

Answer:

UOW Library Catalogue

Textbooks on labour law will include relevant cases, statutes and principles. Try a keyword search on labour law or industrial law or industrial relations or employment law and follow the relevant subject headings if necessary. For example, the subject heading is Labor laws and legislation for many of these keyword examples.

CCH Online

- Scroll to and click CCH Online
- Click CCH Industrial Law Library
- Click Australian Labour Law Reporter
- Select jurisdiction and /or topic and the relevant legislation will be referred to.
- UOW students and staff only

CCH Online: Research Manual of Industrial Law

- Scroll to and click CCH Online
- Click Industrial Law Library
- Click Research Manual of Industrial Law
- Click Industrial Law Database Definitions of terms used in industrial law.
- UOW students and staff only

LexisNexis AU: Halsbury's Laws of Australia

A comprehensive, fulltext legal encyclopedia providing an overview of relevant cases, legislation and commentary. Titles 025 Arbitration, 165 Employment and 230 Industrial Law are amongst the more relevant titles.

TIP:

- Scroll to and click LexisNexis AU
- Scroll to the heading Commentary and click Browse next to the title Halsbury's Law of Australia
- Scroll to one of the titles noted above
- Click the + to open the Table of Contents (TOC)
- UOW students and staff only

CCH Macquarie Dictionary of Law

A well known but some what dated legal dictionary.