

Answer:

2a. UOW Library Catalogue

Use a Word search on the catalogue to find textbooks on torts. These books will include legislation.

2b. CCH Online: Torts Legislation

- At CCH Online homepage
- From left frame scroll & click Torts Law Library
- From right frame click Torts Legislation
- UOW students and staff only

2c. Alternatively, other databases to try are:

- LAWLEX UOW students and staff only. Recommended database for most aspects of legislation.
- NSW Legislation produced by the Parliamentary Counsel's Office provides access to NSW legislation
- ComLaw produced by the Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department this database provides access to Commonwealth legislation
- AustLII a site produced by the Australasian Legal Information Institute (UTS and UNSW).

2d. There are a variety of sources to verify your information and to check for recent amendments and repealed legislation. Try the following:

- LexisNexis AU: Federal Statutes Annotations and New South Wales Annotations
From taskbar click legislation tab, from left click Statutes Annotations, at Sources box highlight either Federal or NSW annotations & type keywords in Search box, click search
- Commonwealth Statutes Annotations
- New South Wales Statutes Annotations and References
