

AMCOS/ARIA repertoire

The below list contains the list of AMCOS publisher members and ARIA labels that are included in the scope of UOW's music licence.

Background

In June 2005, the AVCC finalized a new music licence agreement between 33 of Australia's universities (including UOW) and a number of music societies, including the Australasian Performing Right Association (APRA), Australasian Mechanical Copyright Owners' Society (AMCOS), the Phonographic Performance Company of Australia (PPCA) and the Australian Record Industry Association (ARIA). Generally speaking, the music licence allows staff to copy, communicate and perform music covered by the agreement for educational and other purposes.

APRA, AMCOS and the PPCA are non-profit organisations responsible for collecting and distributing music copyright royalties. For information about copyright collecting societies, see the Australian Copyright Council's information sheet.

ARIA is an industry association whose role includes licensing music, as well as other activities.
